1 Net operating expenses reflect contractual waivers and expense reimbursements that continue through the end of September 2019. For more information on fee waivers or expense reimbursements please see the expense table in the prospectus. If the waivers or reimbursements were not in effect the Fund's performance would have been lower.

2 The Russell 2000 Value Index, an unmanaged index of small-capitalization companies with lower price-to-book ratios and lower forecasted growth values, is not available for direct investment. Unlike a mutual fund, the performance of an index assumes no taxes, transaction costs, management fees, or other expenses.

Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Investment return and principal value will fluctuate so that shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. POP (Public Offering Price) figures reflect maximum sales charge in class A shares of 5.50%. NAV (Net Asset Value) returns do not include the effect of any applicable sales charges. A contingent deferred sales charge of 1.00% is charged if you redeem class C shares within 12 months of the date of purchase. Current performance may be lower or higher than that shown here. Performance data current to the most recent month-end is available at 800-622-FUND (3863) or pncfunds.com.

INVESTMENT STRATEGY

PNC Multi-Factor Small Cap Value Fund seeks long-term capital appreciation by investing primarily in stocks of small-cap companies with market caps matching the benchmark that are believed to be conservatively valued.¹⁰ Using an analytical process together with fundamental research methods to implement a value approach, the portfolio management team rates the performance potential of companies and buys those securities it considers to be conservatively valued relative to the securities of comparable companies. In searching for securities with lower than average valuations, the team consider, among other things, price-to-earnings and price-to-book ratios. The portfolio management team will invest in 100-140 securities.

10 The market cap range of the benchmark frequently changes. As a result, the capitalization of companies in which the Fund invests may also change.

INVESTMENT RISKS

Investments in small-capitalization companies present a greater risk of loss than investments in large companies. Investments in value companies can continue to be undervalued for long periods of time and be more volatile than the stock market in general. International investments are subject to special risks not ordinarily associated with domestic investments, including currency fluctuations, economic and political change, and differing accounting standards that may adversely affect portfolio securities. These risks may be heightened in emerging markets. To the extent that the Fund invests a significant portion of its assets in a particular industry, the Fund's performance could depend heavily on the performance of that industry and may be more volatile than less concentrated funds. The portfolio team may choose to invest in initial public offerings (IPOs), the performance of which is unpredictable and the effect of which may not be duplicated during periods in which the Fund does not invest in IPOs.
