Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Investment return and principal value will fluctuate so that shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. POP (Public Offering Price) figures reflect maximum sales charge in class A shares of 4.50%. NAV (Net Asset Value) returns do not include the effect of any applicable sales charges. ² Measure of a bond fund's sensitivity to changes in interest rates. Generally, the longer a bond or fund's duration, the more the price of the bond or fund will change as interest rates change.

³ Yield shown is for I share class only. Other share class yields may differ. The 30-day SEC yield is calculated with a standardized formula mandated by the SEC. The formula is based on maximum offering price per share and includes the effect of any fee waivers. Without waivers, yields would be reduced. The 30-day unsubsidized SEC yield does not reflect waivers in effect. A fund's actual distribution rate will differ from the SEC yield and any income distributions from the fund may be higher or lower than the SEC yield.

⁴ Average of each bond's credit rating, adjusted for its relative weighting in the portfolio.

INVESTMENT STRATEGY

The PNC Intermediate Bond Fund is managed through a team-driven, top-down process utilizing active sector rotation, duration, and yield curve management, with extensive credit research and portfolio analysis to mitigate risk. The Fund seeks to provide current income, as well as preservation of capital by investing in investment-grade fixed income securities, including U.S. and international government bonds, corporate, mortgage-backed and asset-backed securities. The Fund normally will maintain a dollar-weighted average maturity between three and ten years, but may vary outside that range from time to time, including due to market conditions or if deemed appropriate for temporary defensive purposes. The Fund’s duration (its sensitivity to interest rate changes) is managed to plus/minus 20% maximum relative to its benchmark index, the Bloomberg Barclays Intermediate U.S. Government/ Credit Bond Index.

INVESTMENT RISKS

The value of debt securities may be affected by the ability of issuers to make principal and interest payments and even the possibility that the issuer will default completely. Although U.S. government securities are considered to be among the safest investments, they are not guaranteed against price movements due to changing interest rates. An investment in the Fund is subject to interest rate risk, which is the possibility that a fund’s yield will decline due to falling interest rates and the potential for bond prices to fall as interest rates rise. High yielding, non-investment-grade bonds present a greater risk of loss to principal and interest than investment-grade securities. International investments are subject to special risks not ordinarily associated with domestic investments, including currency fluctuations, economic and political change, and differing accounting standards that may adversely affect portfolio securities. These risks may be heightened in emerging markets. The Fund may also be subject to prepayment risk, the risk that the principal of a fixed income security that is held by the Fund may be prepaid prior to maturity, potentially forcing the Fund to reinvest that money at a lower interest rate.

Derivatives Risk. The Fund may invest a portion of its assets in derivatives. Derivative instruments include options, futures, and options on futures. A small investment in derivatives could have a potentially large impact on the Fund’s performance. The Fund may be unable to terminate or sell a derivatives position. Derivative counterparties may suffer financial difficulties and may not fulfill their contractual obligations.
